Everything is in readiness for the play, "Between Two Poes," to be given at the Academy of Music to-night for the benefit of Summer Rest, and the Co-operative Workers are very hopeful of the results.

Academy of Music to-night for the beneshit of Summer Rest, and the Co-operative Workers are very hopeful of the results.

Summer Rest' is a vacation house, where self-supporting women of Richmend and Manchester, may obtain for the moderate price of $2 per week board, all the advantages of a confortable, well kept and attractive summer, resort.

It is beautifully situated on the southern slope of the Blue Ridge Mountains, about one mile from Greenwood depot, in Albemarie county. Va.

The "Rest' is non-sectarian and is supported by the board of its guests, by the amunic contributions of the sustaining members, and by special efforts of the active membors, under the name of Co-operative Workers, to raise money by sales and entertainments.

The Co-operative Workers take this opportunity of thanking all who have so kindly contributed in any way to the success of the "Rest," and to especially thank the two daily papers of Richmond for their kindnesses in advertising this riay. All friends are requested to lend their aid to this noble institution by patronizing the drama, "Between Two Foes," which the Garrick Dramatic Clubhave Rindly consented to give.

Woman's College Students Give

Entertainment.

The elocution class of the Woman's College, under Miss Frances Starr, gave a charming entertainment last Friday evening, in which the students of the college delighted an enthusiastic audience and won fresh laurels for themselves and their alma mater.

The programme was varied by delightful musical selections and by two vocal numbers given by the students of Mrs. M. A. Martin, the talented director of the musical department at the Woman's College.

the musical department at the Woman's College.

Miss Wilson, who appeared in a vocal solo, reflects great credit on her instructor, with whom she has offly been studying since January 15th, in showing how much may be accomplished in a comparatively short space of time. Both of her numbers gave proof of an ease of tone production, and song conception which is a distinctive feature of Mrs. Martin's success with her vocal pupils.

The trio, "Doris," was so much admired at the intermediate concert that it was repeated last Friday evening by special request. The plane numbers were very fine.

Miss Starr's pupils, the bright particular stars of the occasion, acquitted themselves splendidly. The programme in full is given below:

At the Woman's Club.

The only drawback to the delightful musicale given last afternoon at the Woman's Club was that Mrs. Henry Harwood's sickness prevented her from being present and singing two songs which, composed by Mrs. Harry A. Gillis and rendered by Mrs. Harvy A. Gillis and rendered by Mrs. Harwood recently at the Ladies' Morning Musicale, were entiusiastically received.

Yesterday's programme, though imprompty, was charming, Mrs. W. H. Grymes's beautiful soprano, round, full and clear, sounded to fine advantage in her vocal numbers, and Miss Louise Williams was at her best in the plano selections. The programme included: The Parsifal March. Miss Louise Williams (a) Twas April Nevins

The Pilgrim Fathers.

By FELICIA HEMANS.

This poem by Mrs. Hemans describes the landing of the Pligrim Fathers on Ply-A biographical sketch of Mrs. Hemans has already appeared in this series

THE breaking waves dash'd high On a stern and rock-bound coast; And the woods, against a stormy sky, Their giant branches toss'd;

> And the heavy night hung dark, The hills and waters o'er, When a band of exiles moor'd their bark. On the wild New England shore.

Not as the conqueror comes, They, the true-hearted, came;-Not with the roll of the stirring drums, And the trumpet that sings of fame;-

Not as the flying come, In silence, and in fear;— They shook the depths of the desert's gloom With their hymns of lofty cheer.

> Amidst the storm they sang: Till the stars heard, and the sea; And the sounding aisles of the dim woods rang To the anthem of the free,

> > The ocean-eagle soar'd From his nest, by the white wave's foam, And the rocking pines of the forest roar'd-Such was their welcome home,

There were men with hoary hair Amidst that pilgrim band: Why had they come to wither there, Away from their childhood's land?

There was woman's fearless eye, Lit by her deep love's truth; There was manhood's brow serenely high, And the fiery heart of youth.

What sought they thus afar? Bright jewels of the mine? The wealth of seas? the spoils of war?-No-'twas a faith's pure shrine.

Yes, call that holy ground,-Which first their brave feet trod! They have left unstain'd what there they found-Freedom to worship God!

found to have been little more than a rimor.

The fact was that a well known character, John Purcel, was walking along the track when he heard the train coming. He got off the track at such a rapid gait that he dropped his hat.

The engineer saw the hat rolling away and felt pretty sure he had struck some one, and the train was stopped. A search revealed the facts as stated above, and he went on with his train.

KESWICK HUNT.

Hot Run Ends With Hospitable Reception at Edge Hill. (Special to The Times-Dispatch.)

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)

KESWICK, VA., March 21.—The regular weekly meet of the drag hounds at the club house Saturday brought out a score of well appointed mounts, representing not only the Keswick and neighboring hunt clubs. but those from many different sections of the North. The hounds having been laid on near Keswick Station, followed a course northward across the beautiful rolling hills to the southwest mountains, above the Long Mansion; thence west across the estates of Everetts and Magruder, finishing in the lawn at Edgehill. Those riding were: Julian Morris (M. F. H.) on Winston chunging to Huntsman; George Savage, of New York, first whip, on "Dancing" and "Brandon;" Mr. Middleton, of Kentucky, on "Janici;" Will Osborne, on "Steel Bolt;" Murray Bococok, on Granite; Dr. Armstrong, on Sanford; Dr. Thurman on Cleon; Jack Barnard of Connecticut, from the Charlottesville hunt, on "Keswick;" Jim Brown, on "Creele Balle;" Frank Randolph, on Salem; Dr. Lovett, of Boston, on Dixle; Frank Howard, of Balltimore, on Lorna; C. The accident was a cropper to Mr. Barnard from his young hunter, Kesvick, but was soon remounted without harm. These re-mbers, Mr. Boocock, Dr. Thurman and Dr. Armstrong, reached the finish without their hats, and Judged themselves luftly to have retained their heads, through such a "going." Arriving at Edgehill, these happy hunters found a delicious repast and a "royal" welcome from their genial host and his charming guests who were Mr. and Miss Mason, Mr. C. H.
